Stratford College

Co-educational Secondary School

Stratford College is a fee-paying, co-educational day secondary-level school recognised by the Irish Department of Education and Science (DES). As such, it operates within the regulations laid down by the DES and depends largely on the grants and teacher resources provided by the DES. The school follows the curricular programmes prescribed by the Department, which may be amended from time to time, in accordance with Sections 9 and 30 of the Education Act, 1998. Implementation of school policy must have due regard to the resources and funding available.

History

In the early 1950's members of the Jewish Community decided it would be advantageous and desirable to have a second level school and so Stratford College was founded. It was first located in a house called 'Stratford' on Terenure Road East.

In the 1950's the Jewish Community was much larger than it is now and the student population at Stratford was entirely Jewish. As with everywhere else in Ireland emigration took its toll and in order to maintain its wide curriculum the Board of Management decided that the school should become welcome those of all and no denominations. Now, while retaining its Jewish ethos Stratford is a thriving place of learning where respect for the individual is of paramount importance, high academic standards are maintained and sport is actively encouraged and fostered for children of all denominations.

Some years later the opportunity to move the College to the present complex in Rathgar occurred. In 1981 a new building was erected. Today only the elegant mid - Victorian facade remains of the original house.

Ethos

Stratford College was founded by the Dublin Jewish Community and provides a secondary education within a Jewish ethos, as defined by The Chief Rabbi of Ireland. It also welcomes pupils from other denominations and those of none. This richness of heritage combined with our experience of valuing other minority groups and of individuals makes our school truly unique. We welcome students from primary schools who share our commitment to such cultural and religious diversity.

Our Mission Statement aims to provide a teaching and learning community committed to quality and excellence in education. We are dedicated to:

- Providing a nurturing environment where each individual can develop self-esteem and a sense of their place in, and responsibility to, society.
- Instructing Jewish students in their religion while fostering mutual respect for all traditions.
- Promoting personal achievement and academic success.
- Respecting the unique potential of every student and encouraging each to maximise it.

Stratford College

Co-educational Secondary School

The founding values continue to inspire the school today; those of educating our students in an inclusive academic environment which seeks to foster in young people a sense of personal and academic achievement, of respect for diversity and of service to the community.

Patronage/Trusteeship and Management

The responsibility for the provision of Jewish education in Dublin is Dublin Talmud Torah, an elected group of people from the Jewish Community and one of several Jewish institutions in Dublin. Dublin Talmud Torah dates back to 1920s. The Patron, Trustees and management of the school belong to this body.

The ownership of Stratford College is vested in the Trustees of Stratford Schools. There are three current Trustees who are responsible for determining the nature and purpose of the school in all management activities. The Board of Management is governed by the Articles of Management and is responsible for the running of the school. The day- to- day management of the school is delegated to the Principal.
