Additional Information:

Coláiste Éamann Rís is a progressive and growing co-educational school in Cork City (The student population has doubled over the past four years).

Previously known as Deerpark CBS, the school became co-educational in September 2019 – this year also marked changes to our name, our crest and school uniform (Our school is co-educational in first to third year, with fourth to sixth years being all boys).

Coláiste Éamann Rís is part of the Edmund Rice Schools Trust, and as such we are dedicated to promoting the Edmund Rice Ethos.

We recruit teachers who are passionate about their subject, who are truly student-centred, who are hard-working and who want to be part of a team that empowers students both in and out of the classroom.

The successful candidate will join our growing Home Economics department - the teacher will also be timetabled for SEN, SPHE and CSPE or for whatever second subject the candidate may have.

The successful candidate will be someone who can inspire and motivate our students to study Home Economics at the highest possible level. Creativity and innovation will be needed to plan lively and engaging lessons that will help our students develop a love of Home Economics. The candidate will also help in the management of home economic facilities and resources - and will work with students to ensure these are kept in good order. The willingness to run after school cookery clubs will be an advantage.

As a DEIS school, candidates should also have a passion for working with students from disadvantaged backgrounds and an understanding of the challenge they may face. This successful candidate will play a key role in the continued development of the school's DEIS plan. At the same time, our teachers must also have the ability to engage and inspire very academic and high achieving students (according to the CAO 2019 our school is the most improved school in Cork for third level progression and second in Ireland). Learning and teaching are at the core of what we do – we are very proud of our innovative teaching practices (we have 58 minutes classes, excellent IT facilities etc.)

Coláiste Éamann Rís offers a wide curriculum and our programmes include: Junior Cycle and the Junior Cycle Schools Programme, Transition Year Programme, Traditional Leaving Certificate, Leaving Certificate Applied and Leaving Certificate Vocational Programme. We run four special classes for students with ASD. Our school community is also supported by a Home School Community Liaison Officer and the Schools Completion Programme.

We have a very strong social and print media presence that will help candidates to learn more about our school community.

The ability to teach additional subjects and ability to contribute to extra-curricular activities (as above) will be an advantage.
